

Love your enemy

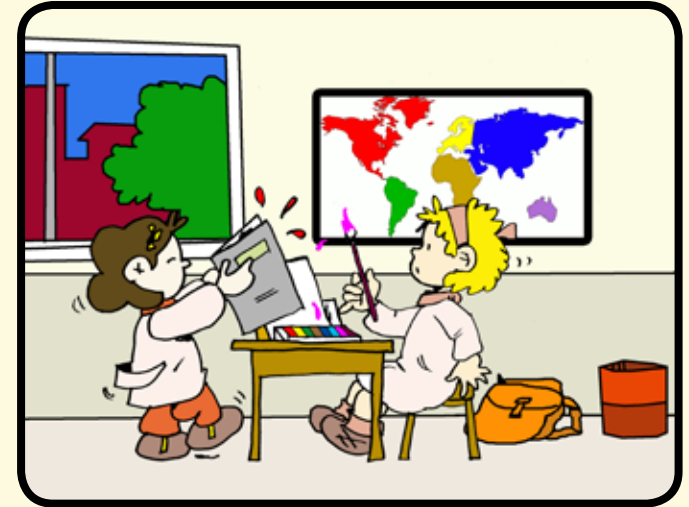

"If you endure suffering even when you have done right, God will bless you for it." (1Pt 2:20)

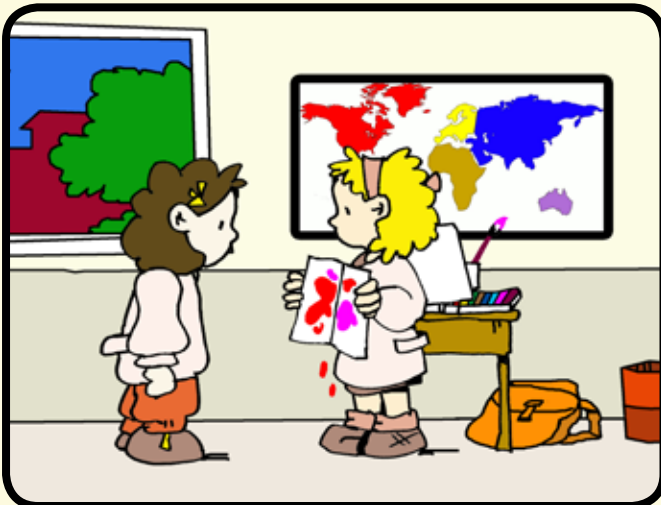

St. Peter wrote a letter to a group of the first Christians and invited them to love everyone, even those who do wrong.

At that time people often made fun of the Christians and treated them badly. Peter encouraged them to go ahead, overcoming every difficulty, treating everyone with love.

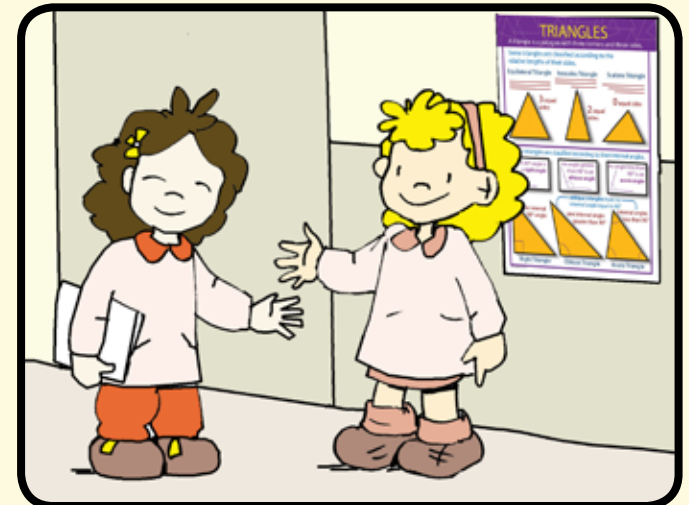

Valeria from Honduras says: I was at school painting a picture when one of my classmates closed my book, and ruined my picture. I asked her: "Nicole, why did you do that? You shouldn't do those things!"

But then right away I remembered that I have to love all the time and so I told her, "It's okay, I forgive you."
